Senator Jerome Prichard voted for the County Unit bill.

It begins to look as if Clarence V. T. Richeson was in imminent danger of death—in the electric chair.

Representative McClure has introduced a bill providing for the election of marshals by the people in cities of the fifth class.

A bill has passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 68 to 13 making a new judicial district of Letcher and Pike counties.

Champ Clark, in a public statement, declared he was a candidate for President, and would seek no alliance with other candidates.

Roosevelt announces that he is ready to run for the presidency "if the people demand."

Was there ever a time when he was not ready?

Representative Williams of Russell has introduced two more bills in the Legislature that will prove of interest to railroad men. One of them calls for the installing of electric head lights on all engines on all roads operating in Kentucky.

The other bill is one requiring all railroads to provide shelter for train men at all terminals on the various roads in the State. Both of these bills, if they become laws, would prove of great benefit to train men, and they are very much interested in their passage.

McCLURE FOR COUNTY UNIT

The Louisville Post says: Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 24.—Owing to the retiring disposition of Republican Minority Leader R. C. McClure, of Lawrence county, he was put in a false position with reference to the county unit measure when it was before the lower House. Following the Republican caucus addressed by McKenzie Todd, and M. C. Rankin, Mr. McClure was approached by a newspaper man to learn what took place. He did not feel that he was at liberty to tell what took place at that meeting, and since has returned to discuss it with any one.

It is known, however, that Mr. McClure was an original county unit advocate. He was a member of the Resolutions Committee of the Republican State convention, and assisted in the preparation of the county unit plank of the platform.

Later, when Mr. McClure came to make the race for Representative, he took the stand that the county unit should be put through the General Assembly, and without any unusual delay. He found Boyd county, normally Republican, took the opposite view, and the Republican majority there was cut down to nothing. He devoted his campaign to Lawrence county, and the voters stood by him manfully. It was not a political fight at all, but a straight wet and dry contest.

Consequently Mr. McClure was, at all times since he arrived in Frankfort to attend the present session against any delays of the unit. He believes that his party can better secure what it should in the way of fair redistricting by allying themselves with the men in the General Assembly who are loyal to their constituents, and carry out their will than by allying themselves with men who are violating solemn pledges made by the party in convention.

The gentleman from Boyd and Lawrence is daily gaining friends in the lower house by his impartiality and fairness and endeavoring to carry out the pledges made by his own party. He says he has been unable to discover anything that differs materially in the platform on which the dominant political parties in Kentucky made their fight before the people last fall.—Louisville Post.

GOEBEL MEMORIAL MEETING

Senator L. W. Arnett presided over a meeting of the Joint Legislative Committee named to arrange for services in commemoration of the death of Gov. William Goebel and fixed the date for February 5, instead of February 3, as the latter date falls on Saturday, when most of the legislators will be out of the city.

The services will be held in the House of Representatives at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Lieut. Gov. McDermott will preside and make a speech; E. K. Hogg will make a speech as a representative from the Senate and H. A. Schoorth will speak in behalf of the House.

Congressman A. O. Stanley will deliver the main address. The Legislature will adjourn at 2 o'clock in memory of the martyred Governor, and the Senate will proceed to the House.

"OUR NEW HOUSE."

A short time ago the Rev. Frederick F. Shannon, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, Seventh avenue and St. John's place, Brooklyn, preached in Plymouth Church in the absence of the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Mr. Shannon's subject was: "Our New House." The text was from 1st Corinthians v. 1: "For we know that if the earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

After paying a very beautiful tribute to this mortal frame of ours, this tenement of clay, Mr. Shannon spoke touching the characteristics of the new House, the eternal Heavenly Mansion. This he did in a wealth of splendid diction and glowing color such as he uses with such admirable effect. Speaking of the architecture of the House not made with hands Mr. Shannon said as follows:

A second characteristic of our new house is its architecture. "We have a building from God, a house not made with hands." We include architecture among the fine arts, thinking of Indian, Chinese, Babylonian, Egyptian, Grecian Roman and Gothic forms. With joy we recount the names of great architects—Alberti, Bramante, Michelangelo, Sir Christopher Wren, Perrier, Semper, Latrobe, Richardson, Gilbert and Burnham. Our earth is adorned with buildings which have dropped from the hands, brains and imaginations of these men. In this era of machinery we appreciate hand-made things. But the architecture of our immortal house is so fine and strong and spiritual that all the architects of all the ages could not have dreamed it or imagined it, much less outlined it on paper. New Yorkers have been interested in the recovery of Dr. Mayo, one of the two world-famous surgeons of Rochester, Minn., who was operated on in the Presbyterian Hospital a few weeks ago. But they are not the only Mayos in America, proud we are of them. In the hills of eastern Kentucky is a man by the name of John C. Mayo. Both a dreamer and a pragmatist, he began in his boyhood to study the formation of the mountains in which he was born. Year in and year out he toiled on his dream of seeing their vast coal deposits shipped in the open markets of the world. His dream has come true, and with it the birth of another American millionaire. But my friend Mayo is more than a rich man, smothering to death beneath his gold. He is building churches and schools in his native valley, and he has just completed a $250,000 residence. But his home, palatial in its appointments, is not big enough for the real John Mayo, nor would it be spacious enough for the humblest mountaineer. The simple truth is, immortal souls require immortal houses. We must have bodies equal to the capacities of our souls, and they are not hand-made, either, because God alone can build them. Oh, what outlooks and outlooks are begotten in the soul by Paul's Christ! What enchanting visions, what inspiring realities, what mysteries that angel eyes try in vain to burn through.

Think, when our one soul understands the great word which makes all things new—When earth breaks up and heaven expands—How will the change strike me and you in the House not made with hands?

FEBRUARY THE TOOTH

This is the day when, according to custom, the little animal whose name once called up memories of old fashioned sausage, should emerge from his annual hibernation, rub his eyes and cast a glance at the earth. But since we have learned to connect sausage out of other things besides ground hog we no longer think of pork, sage, salt and pepper mixed in palatable proportions when we see or hear of the little fellow who has given rise to so much talk about six weeks more of winter and his contribution to the gas people. The ground hog may not know very much, but he has two much sense to go back into his hole after a long stay out of sight because the day was bright enough to let him see his shadow. He is not in the same class with people who haven't sense enough to go in out of the rain. The ground hog, who is not a hog at all, certainly "seen his shadow" in this section of the country last second of February. It was a warm sunshiny day, and for many days afterwards the weather was mild and pleasant.

And the next day it thundered, but there was no frost on the third day of May following.

New Confederate Pension Bill.

Col. Green R. Keller, of Carlisle, Representative in the Legislature from Nicholas and Robertson counties, who is one of the best-known Confederate veterans in the State, will draft a bill providing for a pension of $12.50 a month for all indigent Confederate soldiers, and their widows over sixty years of age. The pensions is to go only to those veterans who have an income of less than $300 a year and no other means of making a livelihood. The proposed bill is backed by the Confederate veterans organization, Col. Keller, who was a brave and popular member of Gen. John B. Morgan's cavalry command, is well fitted for the task of drafting the measure. He says there are two available statistics to show just how many Confederate veterans there are in Kentucky.

A Warm Bathroom. PERFECTION SMOKELSS OIL HEATER. Every mother should be careful that the children take their baths in a warm room. The chill of a cold room is dangerous after coming out of the hot water. A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater brings bathroom or bedroom to just the degree of warmth you want in five or ten minutes. All you have to do is to touch a match. The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one filling and is always ready for use. You can move it anywhere it is needed. There is no waste of fuel and heat warming unoccupied rooms. Just the heat you want, when and where you want it. The Perfection is fitted with an automatic-locking flame spreader that prevents the wick being turned high enough to smoke and is easy to remove and drop back when cleaning. Dress finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel; light and ornamental, yet strong and durable—suitable for any room in any house. Dealers everywhere; or write to any agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated).
